Policy Seminar Series: Session 1 - The Labour Market: What's going on? What role for public policy?

Cost: Free

Registration: https://munkschool-utoronto-ca.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_DRtiFAhBSUqfLi_70_6c7A

Description

“This is the first online policy seminar in the series, Challenges and Opportunities for Social Policy in the Coming Decade. The policy seminars will be organized in part by policy sector, focusing on the tools available in different sectors; however, each panel will consider how policies interconnect, and how vulnerable groups intersect to create concentrations of advantage and disadvantage.

For many years, policy makers and researchers in Canada and other OECD countries have been focused on the future of work and skills, particularly the impact of new technologies on the skills composition of jobs, prospects for different occupations and the nature of work. At the same time, the covid pandemic has had lasting impacts on the labour market, for example many workers are seeking more flexible work arrangements while others a re looking to early retirement, resulting in significant labour shortages. Energy transitions and an aging workforce are also adding new dynamics. How significant are these trends? Are they significantly altering labour market supply and demand, skills composition, and the workplace? What have we learned about recent policy responses, in Canada and peer countries?

The next seminar in this series, Session 2 - Income Protection is taking place on Friday, November 4, 2022 - 12:00pm – 1:30pm ET.”

Navigating the IEN Process. The New Brunswick Model

Date and Time: Wednesday, November 2 1:00 pm - 2:00 pm

In 2018-2019, the Government of New Brunswick Department of Health, Health Workforce Planning Branch embarked on the development of a new nursing resource strategy. This work involved all stakeholders, including various government departments, regulatory associations, educators, and employers. As the development of the strategy began to emerge, those around the table focused on four key areas on which to focus - one of which was the matter of internationally educated health professionals, nurses in particular, and the challenges they faced when attempting to gain licensure for practice, connect with employers, and settle in to their new communities. The current New Brunswick model, the IEN Navigation Unit, is a result of those discussions.

Presenter:

Robb Parker (BA, Bed, MEd). IEN Navigation Service Lead, Province of New Brunswick, Department of Health.

This is Evidence - Re-Picturing South Asian Migrant Men in Greece

Date and Time: Wednesday, November 2 6:00 pm - 8:00 pm

Registration: This is Evidence - CERC in Migration and Integration - Toronto Metropolitan University \(toronto.mu.ca\)

"A multi-media exhibition of undocumented South Asian migrant men sharing images and stories of their lived reality as migrant workers in Greece

Join CERC Migration for the exhibit This is Evidence, curated by Reena Kukreja, Department of Global Development Studies, Queen's University.

This exhibition puts together South Asian migrant men's voices and testimonies, visual and oral, that they consider important to share with the larger world. All images and videos were taken either by the research collaborator, Reena Kukreja, at the behest of the men who pointed out what needed to be documented, or by the men themselves who would often take her camera or cell phone to click photos.

By centring migrant subjectivities, this photovoice-based multi-media exhibition gives voice and power back to the migrant workers by allowing them a medium to present themselves unmediated and directly to diverse sets of audiences. The migrant men, by showing their reality as workers, seek to draw attention to the similarity of migrant labour precarity and exploitation globally. For them, this project is a political act of resistance. They recognize all other avenues to get their viewpoint across to policy makers and ordinary people are closed to them. Through photovoice, they seek to give voice and power back to all migrant workers and thus disrupt dominant narratives of othering because of their race, gender, ethnicity, religion, migrant illegality, and low-class status."

Immigration Politics, Refugee Crises, and Ethnic Dynamics in a Changing World Order: Canada and Beyond"

REGISTER NOW

"As we are nearing the end of the first quarter of the 21st century, there are a number of major developments on the global scene that call for a continued scrutiny but also a nuanced vision on ethnic dynamics and immigration issues.

First, the issues of immigration policy, border security, rising ethnic tensions, new and ongoing regional and national political conflicts, multiple displacements and escalating refugee crises dominate the news in many different countries – from the United States, Canada, and Mexico in North America, to the UK, Germany, France, Italy, Spain, Greece, and Ukraine in Europe, and to China, Australia, Myanmar, and New Zealand in East Asia and Oceania. This dominance has been so pronounced that the immigration/ethnic issues are frequently ranked among the topmost concerns in various nations, and the positions about those issues often determine the political directions and election results in different countries.

Second, there has been a global rise of a new right-wing populist wave, with direct implications for issues such as the meaning and possibility of citizenship, identity / sense of belonging, freedom, human rights, and justice. This is happening alongside a new wave of refugees surfacing as a result of an increased number of regional conflicts and proxy wars over geopolitical and economic interests, environmental disasters, and so on.

Third, despite the conservative and exclusionary politics in various western countries, citizens' groups and solidarity movements have emerged or strengthened existing voices that support inclusion and integration of migrants and refugees."

Fourth, the COVID pandemic, the Russian invasion of Ukraine, and the discovery of mass burial sites of Indigenous children in Canada have revealed some of the deep-seated ethnic sentiments, racisms and other systemic inequalities once again. Lastly, the new technological advancements (e.g., the emergence of a ‘cyber world order’ and the use of Artificial Intelligence in immigration decision-making) have resulted in both possibilities but also new challenges for immigration policies. Altogether, these developments have radically changed the world we live in and have created a new world order; hence, highlighting the need to revisit our existing conceptual and methodological toolboxes in the field of ethnic studies and immigration research."

N4 / SPU IEHPs Online Program

Fostering Canadian Integration for Internationally Educated Health Professionals (IEHPs): From Learning to Action

Saint Paul University's Institute for Transformative Leadership, in partnership with the National Newcomer Navigation Network - N4, has developed this new program to help Internationally Educated Healthcare Professionals (IEHPs) overcome barriers to finding healthcare jobs in Canada.

This program is listed on academia's Top Ten in Higher Education. <https://www.academica.ca/topten/20220713>

Pre-registration closes December 6.

Program page: <https://newcomernavigation.ca/iehps-program>

HIGHLIGHTS

Free (funded by IRCC) · Certificate of attendance · Limited spots · 100% online · Peer-to-Peer Mentorship · Live Sessions (recorded for watching anytime, anywhere)

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

This program is designed to accompany and support IEHPs with the challenges of finding their place in Canada. It is based on an integrated development model that stresses knowledge, skills and identity (who I am and who I am becoming). The program's content will allow you to develop skills and knowledge for successful integration in Canada while forming a learning community through exercises of personal development and reflective practice (peer mentoring, reflective learning journals, discussion forums). It is training that welcomes you and helps you leverage your expertise in a new cultural context.

"À propos de cet événement

L'élection provinciale de 2022 a été marquée par une campagne dans laquelle l'immigration a occupé une place importante. De la promesse de François Legault de limiter l'immigration pour « protéger le français » aux promesses de Québec solidaire d'augmenter l'immigration en région en passant par les remarques du ministre de l'Immigration sortant au sujet des immigrants Montréalais, l'immigration s'est avérée être un enjeu majeur et un point de contention entre les partis. La victoire écrasante de la CAQ aura un impact certain sur les politiques d'immigration du Québec. Dans cette conférence, Chedly Belkhodja (Université Concordia), Adèle Garnier (Université Laval), Annick Germain (INRS), Mireille Paquet (Université Concordia) et Catherine Xhardez (Université de Montréal) feront le bilan des engagements des partis provinciaux en immigration et discuteront des conséquences du résultat de l'élection du 3 octobre 2022 sur ce secteur de politique. Le format de la conférence permettra les échanges avec l'audience.

Une présentation de Chedly Belkhodja, professeur à l'École des affaires publiques et communautaires de l'Université Concordia, Adèle Garnier, professeure agrégée au département de géographie de l'Université Laval, Annick Germain, professeure au Centre Urbanisation, Culture et Société de l'Institut national de la recherche scientifique, Mireille Paquet, professeure agrégée au département de science politique de l'Université Concordia, et

Policy Seminar Series: Session 3 - Immigration

Description

This is the third online policy seminar in the series, Challenges and Opportunities for Social Policy in the Coming Decade. The policy seminars will be organized in part by policy sector, focusing on the tools available in different sectors; however, each panel will consider how policies interconnect, and how vulnerable groups intersect to create concentrations of advantage and disadvantage.

Canada's economic immigration system leans heavily on the selection of skilled immigrants with high human capital. Certain sectors of the economy, including agri-food, hospitality and long-term care are left to rely on temporary foreign workers with little access to permanent resident status. At the same time, skilled immigrants in regulated occupations are under-employed because of the lack of recognition by regulatory bodies and employers of their qualifications and experience achieved abroad. These problems were highlighted during the pandemic, when the concept of "essential workers" led to some short-term measures to respond to acute labour shortages. Current debates in Canada are asking whether our immigration policies should be modernized to reflect our changing labour and skill needs at all points of our labour market continuum. What can we learn from other countries' experiences?"

The next seminar in this series, Session 4 – The Care Economy is taking place Wednesday, November 9, 2022 - 12:00pm – 1:30pm ET.

Registration: Digital Champions Training for Canada's Settlement Sector Tickets, Multiple Dates | Eventbrite

About this event

We are pleased to invite you to participate in our Digital Champions training session, a program tailored to promote digital inclusion and digital literacy for newcomers in Canada!

Join us to learn how to support individuals who are new to Canada through a fun and interactive 2 hour zoom training session. Please note that the event times are in PST.

The Digital Champions program is an evidence-based, Train-the-Trainer approach developed for settlement service providers frontline staff to provide tailored and holistic training to clients. During the training session, we will cover topics such as:

- Why digital inclusion matters for Canadians: exploring the impact of digital inequality in Canada
- Being a 'digital champion' – building staff/volunteer confidence and knowledge around the best resources for people new to Canada and what skills they need.
- Barriers to access and learning - and some solutions
- Staying safe online: exploring key resources and tools that will be useful, with a particular focus on keeping newcomers safe and exploring where newcomers can connect safely with peers, both online and within their new communities.
- Exploring resources to inspire and to help others access reliable Information (and spot misinformation), manage money and finance, manage health and access education.
- Getting started with new devices: set up, bookmarks; accounts.
- First steps in privacy and security: passwords; safe sites; parental controls.

During the 'hands-on' sessions, we will encourage participants to actively explore resources and to share common challenges and issues they are experiencing in their current supporting role. We will also be sharing tools such as a digital skills checklist that you can use with your clients.

Become a Digital Champion by joining us in training over ONE 2 hour-long training session held over Zoom, on one of four dates. Although participation is free, space is limited to ensure that we can optimize your experience. RSVP Today!

- Tuesday October 25th at 10:00AM PST-12:00PM PST
- Thursday October 27th at 8:00AM PST-10:00AM PST
- Tuesday November 8th at 8:00AM PST-10:00AM PST
- Tuesday November 15th at 8:00AM PST-10:00AM PST
- Thursday November 17th at 10:00AM PST-12:00PM PST

Date and Time: Thursday, November 10 9:00 am - 5:00 pm

Cost: $50

Registration: Registration | Rendez-vous Santé en français | SSF \(evenements-ssf.ca\)

This is an invitation to participate in our five-year conference « Rendez-vous Santé en français 2022 – 20 years of commitment to solidarity » (week of November 7th, 2022).

We hope that you will be able to join us as well as share this invitation with colleagues.

What you will gain :

- Highlights of the initiatives moved forward over the last 5 years through Healthbound 18-23 – Toward Access;
- A review of issues affecting French-language health and minority communities;
- The sources of inspiration and motivation of key players over the past 20 years;
- A vision for the next 20 years.

Please note that if there is a particular topic that interests you that you do not see on the conference program, there will be several opportunities for anyone to invite others, in advance, to informal "chat rooms" for discussions at pre-established times in our program.

PLEASE REGISTER HERE (regular registrations are available for $50 per person).

Thank you for your consideration. This is a great opportunity to see what we are trying to accomplish together and how our 5 partner groups can contribute (policy makers, health managers, health practitioners, academic institutions and communities).

The words and things of migration

Date and Time: Thursday, November 10 10:00 am - 3:30 pm

Cost: Free

Registration: The words and things of migration - CERC in Migration and Integration - Toronto Metropolitan University \(torontomu.ca\)

Atelier académique organisé par Anna Triandafyllidou, Amin Moghadam et Younès Ahouga, Chaire d'excellence en recherche du Canada (CERC) sur la migration et l'intégration

10 AM - 3:15 PM EST; 3 PM - 8:15 PM CES

Les migrations contemporaines produisent une multitude de mots (migration irrégulière, diversité, intégration, interculturalité, racisme, minorité, nation) et de choses (objets de consommation, œuvres d'art, musées, camps de rétention, technologies). Ces derniers font l'objet de débats, d'interventions et d'enjeux politiques et linguistiques, tout en participant aux espaces de vie des (non)migrants. Cet atelier propose d'aborder les mots et les choses des migrations en examinant les modalités, conditions et les rapports du pouvoir qui soutiennent leurs productions et circulations à travers des contextes sociopolitiques, aires géographiques et échelles variées.

Plus précisément, cet atelier vise à répondre aux questions suivantes :

- Quels sont les processus politiques et sociaux qui participent à la production et à la circulation des mots et des choses des migrations ?
- Quels sont les effets des mots et choses des migrations sur les représentations et les manières d'(inter)agir et d'être des acteurs sociaux du phénomène migratoire ?

- Quelles sont les conditions matérielles des mots des migrations ? Quelles sont les conditions discursives qui accompagnent la production des choses des migrations ?

Pour ce faire, cet atelier fait dialoguer les analyses empiriques sur les systèmes de significations, terminologies, vocabulaires, langues, et discours des migrations d'une part et sur les matérialités, objets, artefacts, dispositifs techniques des migrations d'autre part. Cela permettra de souligner que les univers, pratiques, politiques et savoirs migratoires sont ancrés aussi bien dans des mots que dans des réseaux et circuits de pratiques, d'institutions et de réalités matérielles.

Cet atelier se tiendra en français avec une interprétation simultanée en anglais assurée à travers Zoom.

The words and things of migration

Date and Time: Thursday, November 10 10:00 am - 3:15 pm

Cost: Free

Registration: The words and things of migration - CERC in Migration and Integration - Toronto Metropolitan University \(torontomu.ca\)

Contemporary migrations have come to be represented by a myriad of words and things that can influence political narratives and provide building blocks for administrative or legal practices. This international workshop will foster a dialogue between studies concerned with the systems of meanings and discourses of migration, on the one hand, and studies that investigate the objects, technical assemblages and materiality of migration on the other.

Speakers include:

- Alexandra Galitzine-Loumpet (Université de Paris Cité)
- Hadrien Dubucs (Sorbonne University - Sorbonne Abu Dhabi)
- Younes Ahouga (Toronto Metropolitan University)
- Suzanne Huot (University of British Columbia)
- Luisa Veronis and Anne Lechowicz (University of Ottawa)
- Myriam Richard (Université de Montréal)

Discussants include:

- Janine Dahinden (Neuchâtel University)
- Emmanuelle Le Pichon-Vorstman (University of Toronto)

The Evolution of Canadian Labour Markets: In Conversation with the Governor of the Bank of Canada

Date and Time: Thursday, November 10 12:00 pm - 2:00 pm

Cost: Free

Registration: L'évolution des marchés du travail canadiens : En conversation avec le gouverneur de la Banque du Canada - Forum des politiques publiques \(ppforum.ca\)

"The Public Policy Forum (PPF) invites you to join us for a luncheon speech event, The Evolution of Canadian Labour Markets, featuring Governor of the Bank of Canada, Dr. Tiff Macklem.

Governor Macklem's keynote will discuss how current economic conditions are influencing the Canadian labour market, as well as the long-term trends that will affect labour markets in years to come. The Governor's address will be followed by a Q&A moderated by PPF President & CEO, Edward Greenspon.

PPF events bring together thinkers, doers and deciders from across the private, public and not-for-profit sectors to share insight on policy challenges and developments. Our aim is to build bridges among diverse participants in the policy-making process and give them a platform to examine issues, offer new perspectives and feed fresh ideas into policy discussions...."

Pathways to Prosperity 2021 National Conference

Date and Time: Monday, November 14 9:00 am - 5:00 pm

Next Gen Canada: Immigration and Diversity as Pathways to Prosperity

Register now for the Pathways to Prosperity 2022 National Conference and the Pathways to Prosperity Conference for Local Immigration Partnerships (LIPs) and Réseaux en immigration francophone (RIF) to be held on November 14-16, 2022.

This is an exciting time for the Pathways to Prosperity Partnership. In 2022 we are celebrating 10 years of P2P and a return to an in-person conference, with a twist: the hybrid format. Whether you will be joining us in person or remotely, we have lots of surprises and new activities planned. This is your invitation to join us.

To celebrate where we are today and look ahead, we will be honouring the foundations of immigration and settlement in Canada and embarking on a journey of planning for the future. This is a chance to learn from the people who helped build immigration and settlement in Canada and discuss the way forward to continue our successes. It will be an opportunity to share your expertise and experiences, learn from others, catch up with friends and colleagues, and expand your networks. Join researchers, service providers, Local Immigration Partnerships, Réseaux en immigration francophone, representatives of all levels of government, and others working in the area of immigration for a three-day event.

We are pleased to announce the lineup of many exceptional speakers now available on the Conference website. We encourage you to take a look, with more speakers to be added in the coming weeks.

The keynote and plenaries will have simultaneous English – French interpretation on all three days of the conference.

Remote participants will have access to live broadcasts of the keynote and plenaries, and dedicated activities at other times.

Registration: Digital Champions Training for Canada's Settlement Sector Tickets, Multiple Dates | Eventbrite

About this event

We are pleased to invite you to participate in our Digital Champions training session, a program tailored to promote digital inclusion and digital literacy for newcomers in Canada!

Join us to learn how to support individuals who are new to Canada through a fun and interactive 2 hour zoom training session. Please note that the event times are in PST.

The Digital Champions program is an evidence-based, Train-the-Trainer approach developed for settlement service providers frontline staff to provide tailored and holistic training to clients. During the training session, we will cover topics such as:

- Why digital inclusion matters for Canadians: exploring the impact of digital inequality in Canada
- Being a 'digital champion' – building staff/volunteer confidence and knowledge around the best resources for people new to Canada and what skills they need.
- Barriers to access and learning - and some solutions
- Staying safe online: exploring key resources and tools that will be useful, with a particular focus on keeping newcomers safe and exploring where newcomers can connect safely with peers, both online and within their new communities.
- Exploring resources to inspire and to help others access reliable Information (and spot misinformation), manage money and finance, manage health and access education.
- Getting started with new devices: set up, bookmarks; accounts.
- First steps in privacy and security: passwords; safe sites; parental controls.

During the 'hands-on' sessions, we will encourage participants to actively explore resources and to share common challenges and issues they are experiencing in their current supporting role. We will also be sharing tools such as a digital skills checklist that you can use with your clients.

Become a Digital Champion by joining us in training over ONE 2 hour-long training session held over Zoom, on one of four dates. Although participation is free, space is limited to ensure that we can optimize your experience. RSVP Today!

- Tuesday October 25th at 10:00AM PST-12:00PM PST
- Thursday October 27th at 8:00AM PST-10:00AM PST
- Tuesday November 8th at 8:00AM PST-10:00AM PST
- Tuesday November 15th at 8:00AM PST-10:00AM PST
- Thursday November 17th at 10:00AM PST-12:00PM PST

Registration: Migration Working Group: Scholars of Excellence Edition - CERC in Migration and Integration - Toronto Metropolitan University \(torontomu.ca\)

"This workshop is inscribed in a new line of research that focuses less on migration and integration policies' impact on migrants and their families and more on how migrants contest, reshape and transform migration and integration policies and their implementation. This has been a particularly important issue in research on the intersections between migration and gender and the ways in which migration policies are gendered but also on how women's agency and resilience can confront and reshape these policies. This workshop is organised into two sessions. The first is looking at the ways in which migrant women defy and reshape policies through their migration strategies, networks and different forms of capital (human, social, financial) while the second session focuses on collective mobilisations of migrant women to protest migration policies and revendicate their rights."

Annual Digital Government Forum: The Need to Build Modern Services for All

Date and Time: Tuesday, November 22 10:30 am - 3:30 pm

Registration: Annual Digital Government Forum: The Need to Build Modern Services for All - CSPS \(cpsps-efp.gc.ca\)

Citizens' expectations of government services are changing. They increasingly want easily accessible and flexible services that are available at any time and on any device. Eighty percent of Canadians think navigating government services would be simpler with more digital tools.

This learning event will show participants the importance of improving how we deliver secure, modern, equitable services that are available to all. Leaders in the digital service realm will discuss how the context for service delivery is changing, the challenges organizations are facing, and how government can meet people's current, as well as future, needs and expectations.

By attending the panel discussion and breakout sessions participants will learn:

- what the current service environment in various levels of Canadian government looks like
- what various public sectors are doing to modernize service design and delivery approaches to better meet diverse client expectations
- some of the challenges and benefits that come with moving to digital-first service delivery
- why status quo is not an option when it comes to the evolving digital transformation of government services

The event will be available online and in person. We encourage you to register early as space at the event location is limited.

IRCC-PHAC Information session about COVID-19 vaccines

Date and Time: Tuesday, November 22 4:00 pm - 5:00 pm

Cost: Free

Registration: (see below)

Dear front line settlement and resettlement workers:

As Canada continues with our COVID-19 immunization response, there is a need for reliable information on staying up to date with vaccines, including boosters, as we head into the fall and winter season. You play an important role in sharing reliable information with Canada's newcomers.

We would like to invite you to an information session on November 22 or November 23 about Canada's latest vaccination plan against COVID-19 with Dr. Howard Njoo, Deputy Chief Public Health Officer from the Public Health Agency of Canada.

This session will include a brief presentation on the steps the Government of Canada is taking to ensure access to a safe, effective and free COVID-19 vaccine this fall/winter. We would also like to take this opportunity to answer your questions and address your concerns during a question and answer period.

Please submit questions in advance to engagement@phac-aspc.gc.ca by November 15. When submitting your questions, please indicate in the subject line "PHAC vaccination briefing for the Settlement and Resettlement sector".

Vicarious resilience, compassion satisfaction, and self-care

Date and Time: Wednesday, November 23 1:30 pm - 2:30 pm

Cost: Free

Registration: Vicarious resilience, compassion satisfaction, and self-care Registration, Wed, 23 Nov 2022 at 1:30 PM | Eventbrite

Description:

Many providers working in the helping profession, engage in this type of work because they are compassionate and empathetic. However, high caseloads and repeated exposure to traumatic stories can affect their mental health over time, leading to burnout, compassion fatigue and vicarious trauma. But alongside concepts of vicarious trauma and compassion fatigue, it's important to recognize the strength and growth that providers derive from engaging in this type of work, and to also think about concepts of vicarious resilience and compassion satisfaction. This webinar will examine both the positive and negative impacts of trauma work.

After attending this webinar you will be able to:

- describe the risk factors for compassion fatigue and secondary trauma
- recognize warning signs of compassion fatigue and secondary trauma
- apply prevention and management strategies
- define “vicarious resilience” and reflect on how service providers may be positively affected by working with clients who are survivors of trauma.

Speaker:

Dr. Debra Stein

Dr. Stein is a Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist at the SickKids Centre for Community Mental Health, where she co-leads the Migration Consultation Team, a teaching unit with expertise in issues of resettlement and acculturation. Dr. Stein has over 15 years of experience working alongside settlement counsellors at the Canadian Centre for Victims of Torture, providing consultation and treatment to clients of all ages, with an emphasis on children.

en, youth and families. She has lectured on various aspects of refugee mental health, including skills-based workshops for front-line workers, psychological trauma and parent-child attachment and the special needs of refugee youth. Debra is also a Subject Matter Expert for the CAMH Immigrant and Refugee Mental Health Project.

Dear front line settlement and resettlement workers:

As Canada continues with our COVID-19 immunization response, there is a need for reliable information on staying up to date with vaccines, including boosters, as we head into the fall and winter season. You play an important role in sharing reliable information with Canada's newcomers.

We would like to invite you to an information session on November 22 or November 23 about Canada's latest vaccination plan against COVID-19 with Dr. Howard Njoo, Deputy Chief Public Health Officer from the Public Health Agency of Canada.

This session will include a brief presentation on the steps the Government of Canada is taking to ensure access to a safe, effective and free COVID-19 vaccine this fall/winter. We would also like to take this opportunity to answer your questions and address your concerns during a question and answer period.

Please submit questions in advance to engagement@phac-aspc.gc.ca by November 15. When submitting your questions, please indicate in the subject line "PHAC vaccination briefing for the Settlement and Resettlement sector".

Trauma Informed Care for Primary Care Providers: A Four-Part Series

Date and Time: Thursday, November 24 12:00 pm - 1:00 pm

(Open to Ontario Providers Only)

Cost: Free

Registration: Special Interest ECHO Sessions – ECHO Ontario Child and Youth Mental Health at CHEO

Trauma informed care is a universal, systematic approach that is grounded in an understanding of, and responsiveness to, the impact of trauma. Primary care providers often see patients who have experienced traumatic events, but they don't know how to help. Adopting trauma-informed practices can potentially improve patient engagement, treatment adherence, and health outcomes, as well as provider and staff wellness. Learn more about how you can support your patients with trauma informed care in this upcoming FREE four-part Special Interest ECHO Series on Trauma Informed Care for Primary Care Providers.

N4 / SPU IEHPs Online Program

Fostering Canadian Integration for Internationally Educated Health Professionals (IEHPs): From Learning to Action

Saint Paul University's Institute for Transformative Leadership, in partnership with the National Newcomer Navigation Network - N4, has developed this new program to help Internationally Educated Healthcare Professionals (IEHPs) overcome barriers to finding healthcare jobs in Canada.

This program is listed on academia's Top Ten in Higher Education. <https://www.academica.ca/topten/20220713>

Pre-registration closes December 6.

Program page: <https://newcomernavigation.ca/iehps-program>

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

This program is designed to accompany and support IEHPs with the challenges of finding their place in Canada. It is based on an integrated development model that stresses knowledge, skills and identity (who I am and who I am becoming). The program's content will allow you to develop skills and knowledge for successful integration in Canada while forming a learning community through exercises of personal development and reflective practice (peer mentoring, reflective learning journals, discussion forums). It is training that welcomes you and helps you leverage your expertise in a new cultural context.

Orientation to Community Interpreting Workshop - Virtual

Date and Time: Tuesday, November 29 10:30 am - 3:30 pm

Cost: Free

Registration: Manitoba Association of Newcomer Serving Organizations | Orientation to Community Interpreting Workshop - Virtual \(silkstart.com\)

"This workshop is designed for staff and volunteers of newcomer serving organizations who are not trained interpreters, but are sometimes called on to interpret. Staff who book / use interpreters or managers of settlement programs are also welcome to attend.

The workshop will take place between 9:30 am - 2:30 pm and will include breaks.

Some of the topics we will discuss include:

- What happens when I am called upon to interpret as part of my current job duties?
- What is the role of a trained professional interpreter and how is that different from being a language assistant/language support?
- How do I know when the interpretation is beyond my current skills and abilities as a language assistant/language support?
- and many other important issues!

Areas we will cover include:

- Standards of Practice: Ethical Principles & Performance Expectations
- Accuracy and Fidelity
- Introductions at an Interpreting Assignment: Practicing the Introduction
- Sight Translation
- Remote Interpretation

Expectations of participants:

- Have access to a computer / laptop or other devices with a webcam & microphone, as well as an internet connection.
- Have access to a quiet space with no children present (note that some of the videos used in the workshop contain graphic language and subject matter not appropriate for children)

- Participate in the full interactive workshop

Facilitator: Jane Langes

Jane currently facilitates the WRHA Language Access Interpreter Training, the Brandon Community Language Centre Community Interpreter Training as well as supporting modules (Legal and Educational) for continued learning. Jane also facilitates the Violence Against Women (VAW) Interpreter Training Program through the Barbara Schlifer Commemorative Centre in Toronto, Ontario."

Energy, Optimism & Leadership: A bright future for child health in Canada - Annual Conference

Link: <https://www.childrenshealthcarecanada.ca/annual-conference-2022>

November 30-December 1, 2022

Welcome Reception and Awards Ceremony will be held on the evening of November 29

Ottawa, Ontario (Shaw Centre) and Virtual

Theme: Energy, Optimism and Leadership: A Bright Future for Child Health in Canada

"Children's Healthcare Canada is excited to offer this hybrid event. We can't wait to see many of you in person for the first time in a long while. For this of you who can't join us in Ottawa, we are delighted to welcome you virtually.

In keeping with our theme, we will be celebrating leaders in child health! You won't want to miss our Annual Leadership Awards at the Welcome Reception - a call for nominations will be out soon!

This conference will take place during a SPARK Child Health Leadership Month that will provide several touch points for the broad child health community and bring content focused on diverse audiences. Leadership as a theme speaks to Children's Healthcare Canada's commitment to convening thought leaders and health system partners to address complex child health issues.”

The Carrefour de l'Offre active: An active offer hub to discover (in English)

Date and Time: Wednesday, November 30 12:00 pm - 1:00 pm

November 30th, 2022, 12:00-1:00 (EDT)

The Carrefour de l'Offre active: An active offer hub to discover (in English)

Registration

Cost: Free

Presentation in English by:

- Élissa Micheline Beaulieu, gestionnaire de projets, Consortium national de formation en santé (CNFS)
- Niquita Turayabaha, coordonnatrice de projets – communications, Consortium national de formation en santé (CNFS)

This webinar invites you to discover the Carrefour de l'offre active (COA), and particularly its English content. The COA is an updated version of the Toolbox for active offer that was developed by the Groupe de recherche sur l'innovation et l'organisation des services de santé (GRIOSS) and the Université de Moncton, in collaboration with the CNFS National Secretariat in 2015.

With a completely renewed appearance, the COA considers the evolution of active offer practices, the diversity of Francophone communities and recent research on the subject. The objective of the COA is to support training on active offer for students in CNFS health programs.

Fall Lecture 2022: Getting Real on Innovation

Date and Time: Wednesday, November 30 5:00 pm - 7:30 pm

Registration: Fall Lecture 2022: Getting Real on Innovation - Public Policy Forum \(ppforum.ca\)

"Since 2006, Public Policy Forum has hosted an annual Fall Lecture to explore the critical role the public service plays in preserving a resilient and vibrant Canadian society.

Canada's innovation performance has, for decades now, been a subject of intense public policy debate. While our workforce, our human capital, includes the highest share of university or college graduates in the OECD and we rank first in the G-7 for higher-education for research and development performance, these factors have not translated into sufficient private sector R&D, intellectual property or commercialization.

Canada's potential to remain competitive in the fast-moving world of the intangibles economy requires coherent policy, leadership from all levels of government and coordination with private firms. There are different perspectives on how to put together an integrated policy mix for success and Canada has the potential to do better. So, what will it take to get us on track?"
